

AsianMeals® Black Pepper Cream sauce

A couple of years back at an International Food show, the Olde English iconic fish and chips was presented as a showpiece. There were exceptionally large pieces of fries which accompanied a thick piece of fish fillet topped with the standard mayo. As Asians, we thought it was authentic and complimented the exhibitor for the sample dish. However, a visitor nearby, probably a Brit himself, remarked that it was not authentic enough! Our obvious question was why not??? His answer was - it was not wrapped in the English newspaper as it was usually done in the good old days!

Well, today in the 21st century, we are looking at new flavours and fusion food in a borderless world. In line with this trend, AsianMeals is proud to present the old fish and chips topped with our very own Black Pepper cream sauce! This combination will give you a new dimension of what fish and chips can be with the fragrance of the mildly-spiced black pepper, coupled with delicious flavours for discerning gourmets of international culinary delights! Try this too for your steaks, hot dogs, pizzas, and burgers, and discover the wonders of how the East meets the West in the culinary world!

Black Pepper Cream sauce

MQ, 23rd of August 2016